

Robert Sayle Service Centre, Cambridge

This new distribution on the outskirts of Cambridge for John Lewis is part of the Robert Sayle redevelopment project.

It acts as a hub for distribution and also acts as a customer pick up point for items not available at the store.

The building presents a formal shaded face to the public with a large entrance hall leading to two storeys of administration accommodation.

Client: John Lewis Partnership
Project value: £5.0m

Robert Sayle Service Centre, Cambridge.

